

Jason Brantley

Senior Education Specialist

CURRENT RESPONSIBILITY

Jason Brantley is a senior education specialist with Milliman's Employee Benefits Administration practice. He joined the firm in 2012. His responsibilities include consulting with clients to determine objectives and logistics for upcoming employee education events. He also facilitates on-site and virtual workshops designed to advance understanding of retirement and investing topics. He also coordinates follow-up communications, including event feedback and reporting.

EXPERIENCE

Jason has more than 23 years of experience in the financial and banking industries. He works closely with retirement plan providers to coordinate curricula and events aimed at positively impacting participants' outcomes in retirement. Throughout his career, he has conducted meetings and workshops on a wide variety of financial topics. In addition, he has met with thousands of participants during individual planning sessions. Jason enjoys every opportunity to help others build wealth and security for the future.
