

Scott Feig

Consultant & Relationship Manager

CURRENT RESPONSIBILITY

Scott Feig is a consultant and relationship manager for the Milliman Employee Benefits Administration practice. He joined the firm in 2007.

EXPERIENCE

Scott is responsible for directing the day-to-day operations of multiple clients within the pension administration group. He is responsible for all aspects of workflow management, forms processing, pension calculations, payee administration, and client services. Scott is also responsible for ensuring that all work is completed in accordance with practice standards.

Scott has been working in the pension field since 1997, with extensive experience in supervising/managing various aspects of defined benefit plan administration. His experience includes overseeing the implementation of new clients, special project work, data management, and system design and testing, as well as management of day-to-day workflow activities for large clients.

Prior to joining Milliman, Scott worked in the defined benefit practice of another major consulting firm.
